The War Today..

Prof. Laski's Role

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign News Analyst

PROF. HAROLD LASKI, intellectual socialist who is chairman of the British Labor party's national executive committee, has issued a strong statement of governmental policy which gives one to wonder whether he himself doesn't represent an anomalous figure in the new political set-up.

Custom in the past has left such pronouncements to the prime minister, as leader of the party and very definitely skipper of the ship of state. Of course, the broad governmental policies naturally spring from the party, but the prime minister has had the last word and generally has acted as his own spokesman in matters of moment.

It therefore sounds strange to hear the law coming from Prof. Laski who isn't even a member of parliament, although he is one of the strong personalities of the Socialist party and is head of its policy making body. To be sure, Prime Minister Attlee is attending the Big Three conference at Potsdam but a discussion of policy could have awaited his return to London.

Now this column isn't trying to convey the impression that Laski is the power behind the new prime minister's policy, although some observers take that view. Laski belongs to the left wing of the Socialist party, and there are many of the Laborites who are far to the right of him and don't agree with all his views. Still it's an interesting deviation to see the professor at the outset of the new regime acting as spokesman. Whether he will continue in that role remains to be seen.

Prof. Laski's text was that "this is the arrival of the people in power." In this connection one notes that he developed one of the cardinal tenets of his creed from the United States while lecturing at various universities. The reference book "Current Biography" quotes him as saying after his return to England in 1920 that in America he had seen "more nakedly than I had seen in Europe, the significance of the struggle between capital and labor. I learned how little meaning there can be in an abstract political liberty which is subordinated to the control of an economic plutocracy."

I came back from America convinced that it is no meaning save in the context of equality and I had begun to understand that equality also has no meaning unless the instruments of production are socially owned."

GOLF CLUB TO HOLD ANNUAL CLAM BAKE

Several hundred men, including out-of-town golfers, are expected to attend the 19th annual Salem Golf club clam bake here next Wednesday.

Initiations for the affair have been mailed to golfers in Alliance, Akron, East Liverpool, Leetonia, Lisbon, Youngstown, East Palestine, Columbiana, and Canton.

The day's program includes golf all day, lunch in the clubhouse at noon and a chicken dinner in the evening. Various golf matches are scheduled for the day-time.

The event is arranged by the club's activity and entertainment committees.

Truman Visits King, Heads For Home

(By Associated Press)
WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN Aug. 2—President Truman headed back to the United States today, stopping at Plymouth for a 20-minute talk with King George VI, the Big Three's Berlin declaration was drawn up for release to the world tonight.

Mr. Truman had lunch with the British monarch aboard H.M.S. Renown, lying off the war battered port of Plymouth. The King arranged to visit the President later aboard the U.S.S. Augusta, the cruiser which brought him to Europe.

The British monarch and the first American president to visit

Britain since President Wilson's visit after World War I met aboard the British battle cruiser

Renown at 12:40 p. m. (7:30 a. m., Salem time.)

"Welcome to my country," the King said.

The President and the monarch shook hands with cordiality and stood chatting while clasping hands.

Mr. Truman wore a light grey lounge suit with a red overcoat, brown shoes and a light grey hat.

He made the visit to the Renown after boarding the U. S. cruiser

Augusta, which had brought him to Europe for the Big Three conference at Potsdam.

Crowds Miss President

Hundreds of persons gathered at the docks of this bomb-scarred port on the chance of seeing the President on his arrival by plane from Potsdam, but a last minute change of plans robbed them of the opportunity.

Because of flying conditions,

President Truman and his party landed at an RAF field about eight miles north of Plymouth.

They had been scheduled to land at a field 40 miles to the west.

Mr. Truman inspected some of the bomb damage at the port, then went to the U. S. naval base and embarked on the U.S.S. Augusta.

He missed the lord mayor of Plymouth and other officials waiting for him at the dock.

The King had arrived in Plymouth by special royal train and was welcomed by the lord mayor.

Along Mr. Truman's route from the picturesque village of Yelverton, near the airbase where he landed, many motorists waited in their cars to see the President speed

by.

The President, with Secretary of State Byrnes and Adm. William

D. Leahy, boarded the Renown from a barge flying the presidential flag.

The King waited at the rail with the Earl of Halifax, British ambassador to the United States, and officers of the battle cruiser. The President's party was piled aboard.

Mr. Truman stood hatless at attention at the top of the ladder

while Royal Marines played the Star Spangled Banner.

He and the King chatted on the quarterdeck and then the President inspected the guard of honor.

After Mr. Truman introduced mem-

the monarch went into the admiral's quarters and chatted privately for 20 minutes before luncheon.

Disposing of Laval

Politically, the most complex of France's public figures is really a marvel of simplicity. Pierre Laval, now in the hands of United States authorities, is that well known political type called a professional as a word of contempt.

A professional's first obligation is to himself. He must be what he needs to be to stay in his job. Principles and scruples are not important. The big thing is to guess which way the cards will fall and to be at the right place at the right time.

Laval made a long career in politics by being in the right place at the right time. He thought he had made one more good guess when he went to work for Germany. For a time, events vindicated his judgment. But when it was all over, he ended up on the wrong side. Thereupon, he sought refuge under the wing of another wrong-guesser, Spain's Franco. Franco, under pressure, has ordered him out of Spain. He has put himself in the hands of Americans for disposal. Unfortunately, it is going to be a little more complicated than dropping him into the nearest garbage can, but that is the general idea. Laval, unlike Petain, has nothing to fall back on as an excuse. He never was a hero. He was just a professional politician who guessed wrong when his career was at stake. He was eager to kill France, and now the tables are turned.

No Responsibility Without Authority

Instead of limiting the power of the United States representative on the United Nations security council, the effect of defining his duties by a specific law might be to broaden his power, instead.

This possibility has been ignored. It is made to appear that the only purpose behind the insistence of certain senators on defining what duties Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., shall perform as this nation's probable spokesman in the security council is to limit those duties. Mr. Stettinius himself, if he were free to express an opinion on the matter, might welcome a definition. In the absence of definition, he might have no power at all.

He might be in the position of any other diplomat—a puppet equipped with eyes and ears, but no power of decision. The chief executive of the nation would possess the only authority and the only prestige. If all representatives in the security council and all delegates to the United Nations assembly were to be given that status, the result would be disastrous. While it is not to be imagined that decisions ever will be made without the knowledge and consent of government leaders, neither is it to be imagined that certain men can be expected to assume responsibility for cooperative security without authority to act as responsible persons. It is doubtful if Mr. Stettinius wants to be a mouthpiece. It is doubtful that mouthpieces will be enough to justify the hopes stirred by the proposed United Nations organization. There should be congressional definition of what is expected. If Charley McCarthy could do the job as well as Mr. Stettinius, there must be more important work somewhere else for Mr. Stettinius.

Talk of Peace

It is unlikely that the peace rumors and "peace feelers" are at an end, even though the Japanese have received and rejected the American-British-Chinese ultimatum. For the Jap warlords, despite their saber-rattling, are obviously preoccupied with the idea of ending the war.

To this end they have made some ridiculous proposals. They have suggested peace terms which would create a status quo ante Pearl Harbor and restore the very conditions that brought on hostilities.

These proposals might be sensible in a condition of stalemate and mutual exhaustion. They might even be offered by a magnanimous victor. But from the leadership of a country faced with imminent and terrible destruction, they are only ludicrous.

Continuation of Japanese resistance is puzzling, and has been for a long time. The Jap leaders know the Allies' strength. They know they are doomed to defeat. And they have long had a general idea of the peace terms. The ultimatum's conditions were not particularly new or startling.

But the conditions were unmistakably final: "Following are our terms. We will not deviate from them. There are no alternatives. We shall brook no delay."

Why then does the Japanese government invite ruin on itself and its people? Has it so long divorced honesty from diplomacy that it thinks all other governments do the same? Or has it been misled by the very minority sentiment in this country that calls for an early peace with Japan, even if the terms are moderate and favorable to the enemy?

It must be conceded that the clamor here at home for a definition of "unconditional surrender" may have been partly responsible for the ultimatum. There was no such demand in high places for the same definition when Germany was on her last legs. Then only the most disreputable domestic Fascists professed not to understand the meaning of unconditional surrender, or to ask something less drastic for the Nazis.

But it does not necessarily mean, because the government has acceded to demands for this definition in Japan's case, that it regards Japan as either a less important enemy or less of a menace to world peace than the Germans.

It may be that this government and its Allies feel that there is more fanaticism in the Japanese field commands and among the common soldiers than there is in the Tokyo government. With Germany, it was somewhat different. Her army was no push-over, but troops did surrender in droves when the game was up. It was in the highest Nazi circles that fanaticism was constantly preached and practiced.

Perhaps the Allies feel that the Japanese people, whose modern history of militarism is not quite so black as the Germans' have now learned their lessons and are ready to behave once the warlords are turned out.

Which leads us to wonder.

The Stars Say

For Friday, August 3.

THERE should be nothing of note to block the smooth progress and prosperity of this day, with its safe prospects of inaugurating new programs and projects, renewed agreements, or seeking fresh adventure and perhaps romance in strange places.

Novel ideas or any sort of original ways for attacking old problems or tactics should move ahead with fair effort for work.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is should find openings for moving forward with smooth and easy efforts, especially in the way of developing new ideas or plans, novelties, innovations, or original solutions of old problems or static situations.

This should be with little effort or labor and with the cooperation of those in influential places or public power. Also, romance and adventure in a private or emotional groove are sure to run securely and happily.

A child born on this day will have skill and talent in special lines and should succeed easily and have a romantic career.

Tragic and Avoidable

Though the Luftwaffe is dead and the Japanese air force fast dying, New York has had a taste of aerial warfare through a tragic and fantastic accident.

The crash of an Army bomber into the Empire State building brought sudden death, painful injury, shock, terror, panic and material loss. Multiply that accident by thousands, multiply the single incident by days and weeks, and you get an idea of what happened to London, Berlin, Rotterdam, Stalingrad and dozens of other great cities.

New York's Mayor LaGuardia called the accident more terrible because it could have been avoided. The nations of the world can say the same thing about aerial warfare, and do their utmost to see that it doesn't happen again.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Operating To Cure Heart Ills

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

SOME months ago, we told our readers in these columns of new operations devised for treating defects of the heart present at the time of birth, known as congenital defects. In the past, no form of treatment was available for these conditions which in any way alleviated them. Now, operations have also been devised for different types of congenital heart defects.

Two of these conditions are known as pulmonary stenosis and pulmonary atresia. Pulmonary stenosis means narrowing of the opening through the pulmonary artery. Babies with these conditions are called "blue babies" because when they are born they suffer from cyanosis or a bluish color to the skin due to a lack of oxygen in the blood and tissues.

Pulmonary Stenosis
In pulmonary stenosis, there is a narrowing of the blood vessel which leads from the heart to the lungs and this means that insufficient oxygen gets into the blood to be carried to all the body tissues. Doctors Alfred Blalock and Helen B. Taussig of Baltimore have operated on three children with a severe degree of pulmonary stenosis and all of the patients seemed to have been greatly benefited. In two instances, in both of which there was a deep cyanosis, the condition diminished or disappeared and the general condition of the baby improved in proportion.

Operations Differed
The operations carried out differed in detail, depending on the type of defect present. Even though these children were not in good physical condition and were suffering from a lack of oxygen they seemed to withstand the giving of an anesthetic satisfactorily.

The operation consisted of uniting a branch of the aorta which is the large blood vessel coming from the heart, with one of the pulmonary arteries which, as I have said, passes from the heart to the lungs. When cyanosis is present for a long period of time, there is an increase in the number of red cells in the blood as well as an increase in the amount of hemoglobin or coloring matter. It was found that in the patients operated on the number of red cells decreased following the operation and that the hemoglobin also lessened in amount. Furthermore, laboratory tests showed that the amount of oxygen in the blood was greatly increased.

Of course, this type of operation cannot be used for all congenital heart defects, but it would appear that in these conditions in which there is a blocking of the pulmonary arteries, a satisfactory operation can be performed which should result in great lengthening of the patient's life.

Dr. Bundesen will answer letters containing medical questions only through his column. Address your inquiries to Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, 235 E. 45th st., New York City.

IWO JIMA—Almost nightly now the air over Iwo throbbed steadily, hour after hour, with the purposeful drumming of the big parade of Japan-bound B-29s from Marianas bases.

The giant sky-train rumbles in the blackness somewhere off the edge of Mount Suribachi, wing-tip lights forming a chain of points glowing in the dark. There's a rhythm in their drumming, the reed-like roar of one plane's engines blending with the approaching roar of another's to make a relentless, cosmic symphony. It is Japan's doom music.

Once the Superforts gave Iwo a wide berth, especially on the return trip where Japanese fighters could lie in wait like vultures for the crippled sky kings. Now Iwo is Haven, coming or going. That is part of the fruits of the Marines' costly victory here.

Long before daylight, long before the first wounded or fuel-thirsty planes return, Iwo is ready for them. The welcome is out.

Up long before dawn to meet them are flight surgeons, control tower men, ambulance drivers, fuel truck drivers, the Red Cross men who pass out coffee and doughnuts, the mechanics, the men in charge of billeting, the cooks and mess sergeants who must feed the arriving crews.

They're all there as the first of the planes, the long silver antennae of its headlights cutting the blackness and feeling the runway, swoops down for a landing.

Col. John G. Fowler of Newman, Ga., is in charge of the Superfort base on Iwo, with Lieut. Col. Max R. Fennell of Seattle, Wash., directing landing operations.

Fennell, whether in the tower or about the field, is in constant touch by radio. Today his job is not too hard. Weather has been fair, enemy opposition light, and most of the planes are coming in merely for refueling.

But sometimes it is a grueling work, calling for quick — and heartrending — decisions. When the B-29s had to land on the short, muddy Japanese runway in the early days, before the modern asphalted strip was ready, there was suspense, excitement and dread on Iwo. Sometimes the hovering island was "soaked in" by fog and there were 30,40,50 distressed planes circling the island, all clamoring to be "let in."

Those days, and there have been several, Fennell had to limit Iwo's hospitality. One day all but seven planes, those in most serious trouble, had to be sent on to their home bases without landing. It was wild, nerve-racking business, fighting to save those lost men of the air who could not even see the runway for the fog. There were bail-outs, some over the island, some over the sea, and there were crashes. But 75 of the 77 men were rescued. One wounded crewman fell, by lucky chance, in the hospital area. Others were fished from the ocean by persistently searching "ducks" of air sea rescue off shore.

Fewer Women Workers In Traffic Accidents

Relatively fewer women workers are hurt in traffic accidents, according to Albert P. Morris, manager of the Columbiana County Motor club.

The reason for this may be their habit of "priming" before leaving work. Men workers are much more apt to dash off for home tired and dirty and not quite as mentally alert.

It is probably woman's vanity

Laval In Paris To Face the Music

that prompts her to "freshen up," but the results include a mental and physical "lift," which may account for the fact that she is less apt to be involved in a traffic accident on her way home.

A washup and final rinse with cold water might achieve the same results for the men workers. Certainly anything that will reduce traffic accidents involving war workers, says Morris, is worth trying and this simple measure is recommended for all male war workers during 1945.

Salem Boy Guarded King of England, Gave Ruler Scare

Corp. Lester Woolman, son of Lester and Betty Scullion Woolman of Pasadena, Calif., formerly of Salem, was one of two American military police chosen to guard King George of England when he was in Rome on one occasion, he revealed in a letter to his mother, part of which was sent to Salem. He said:

"Mom, here is something I have been wanting to tell you for a whole year—the war is over so I guess it won't be so bad if I spill it now. Do you remember last spring just before the drive on Rome started, King George of England visited Italy? Well, Mom, there were two American military police chosen to guard him and I was one of them.

"I can't tell you how thrilled I was. What a responsibility! On the last night of his stay in Naples we had an air-raid. We got the warning 15 minutes before the city and that night I drove faster than I ever had before in my life. Thirty minutes after we got the signal I had that Packard clipper—42 model—45 miles from Naples at a very secluded villa. From the time I got it into over drive until we got to the villa, the slowest we went was a mere 75 miles per hour. The King is a pretty good 'Joe' but he said that I scared the life out of him on that ride and that he hoped that would be the last one he would have like that."

Lester, who is 20 years old, was born in Salem. The family left the city when he was six years old. He is stationed in Pisa and has been in the military police for more than two years.

The next meeting will be held Sept. 7 at the grange hall.

Household Hints

Sandpaper when used to remove scorch marks should be used lightly as otherwise it will weaken the fabric permanently.

Never wash oysters and clams or you will lose the juice which can be served hot as broth or added to stew and chowder.

When soaking garments in salt water to remove perspiration, do not let them stand too long or the material may fade.

If your child refuses to drink milk add a tablespoon of molasses to his next glass of milk.

Plan Registration For Trades Classes 2 Days Next Week

Registration for the 1945-46 term in the Salem Trades Extension classes is scheduled in the office of Coordinator Holland W. Cameron, third floor of the High School building, Tuesday and Saturday of next week.

Classes will be held each Tuesday evening from 6:30 to 9:30 and on Saturday morning from 8 until 11:30. No charge is made for students taking part in the program in connection with related shop work. A charge of $3 is made upon registration to cover incidental expenses. Each student furnishes his own equipment for mechanical drawing.

Regular classes are held for machinists, draftsmen, foundrymen, and patternmakers. The first year of related training consists of a thorough study of the fundamentals of blueprint reading, shop mathematics and elementary mathematics.

Students wishing to enroll in the Tuesday evening classes should register between 6:30 and 9:30 p. m. Tuesday and those wanting to take part in Saturday classes should register between 8 and 11:30 a. m. Saturday, Aug. 11.

The Extension classes recently graduated 16 journeymen workers who had completed the four year course and their corresponding shop work.

10-YEAR HOUSING PROGRAM URGED

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—A 10-year national housing program aimed at construction of 1,250,000 new dwelling units a year—nearly five times the pre-war average—was recommended today by a senate postwar study committee.

At the same time, Senators Wagner (D-NY) and Ellender (D-La.), members of the committee, introduced legislation calling for extension of federal mortgage guarantees to new fields and an outright federal contribution for housing of $31,000,000 in the first year with annual increases to raise the total to $133,000,000 at the end of five years.

Embraced in the program are continued low-rent public housing, aid for cities to redevelop "blighted" and slum areas, continued federal insurance of mortgages on small homes (the FHA plan), guarantees of income for investors who agree to a low return on investments in housing, and aid for farm housing.

Ellender said he believed the program would not take more than $133,000,000 from the federal treasury in contributions in any one year.

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), who headed the study group, said "the building of a million and a quarter homes a year would stimulate an expenditure upwards of $5,000,000,000 to $6,000,000,000 annually and, directly and indirectly, provide for three to four million jobs."

Whole Blood Is Rushed To Pacific by Air Unit

HEADQUARTERS, Pacific Division, Air Transport Command — Whole blood, not plasma, now is rush-flown to Pacific fronts by the Air Transport Command. In the four-month period from Feb. 1 to June 1, ATC successfully transported 243,500 pounds of the ice-packed, bottled, liquid salvation.

Early this year Medical Corpsmen began to urge increased whole blood shipments to critical areas where plasma alone was inadequate. In answer, the ATC threw its fleet of C-54s into the breach.

Until recently, whole blood was used much more sparingly than more publicized, easily handled plasma because of its greater bulk and requisite ice-packing. More frequent and faster ATC flight schedules have solved both problems. Whole blood now reaches forward areas in the required number of hours and ATC flies it "cool" all the way.

Pete Jr. Gets His Tenth Jap Plane!

Pete Swanson's son, Pete Jr., brought his tenth Jap plane down last week, and his dad couldn't help bragging.

But I got to thinking about Pete Senior: how he hadn't missed a day at the war plant since the war began; how he'd worked overtime and Saturdays and Sundays; how he'd kept himself in shape, been temperate and sensible, so that he'd be at work clear-headed, bright and early every morning.

So, when he invited us over after work to drink a toast to his son in a sparkling glass of beer—I couldn't help toasting Pete Senior, too.

From where I sit, there's more than one kind of "ace" that's helping win this war... men like Pete Senior, too. And when the war is over, and the monuments are erected to its heroes, I hope they don't forget the workman on the home front—the man who stuck to his job like a soldier to his guns, until the Victory.

An Opportunity for a Lifetime Education FREE, If You Can Qualify

If you can answer "yes" to all these questions you may have a future in the Cadet Nurse Corps of the U. S. Public Health Service.

As a Cadet Nurse you will receive tuition, room, board and uniforms—all paid for by the United States Government. In addition, you will receive a monthly allowance.

In return, you will pledge to engage in essential nursing, military or civilian, for the duration, upon completion of your 24 to 36 months' nurse education course.

While you learn, you will be serving your country by helping to release graduate nurses for military duty. You, yourself, may serve as a Senior Cadet, in an Army, Navy, Veterans or Public Health Service hospital, doing your share in the care of our sick and wounded.

After the war, you may have many interesting nursing jobs open to you—in child health, industrial health, rehabilitation, teaching, supervision, administration, bedside nursing, anesthesia.

If you met the qualifications for enrollment in the United States Cadet Nurse Corps by answering "yes" to all the questions on the list above, APPLY TODAY.

Newest Wind Tunnel To Test Jet Engines At 2,000 Miles Per Hour

CLEVELAND, Aug. 2.—Operation of new-type aircraft engines at speeds of more than 2,000 miles an hour can now be studied in the laboratory of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics at Cleveland airport.

The NACA announced today the completion of a new supersonic wind tunnel for fundamental research on aircraft propulsion plans operating at equivalent sea level velocities up to and beyond 2,000 miles per hour.

The new tunnel will enable scientists to study the operating characteristics of models of turbo jet, ram jet and other similar engines expected to propel aircraft and guided missiles through space at speeds hitherto unrealized except by projectiles shot from guns, the committee declared.

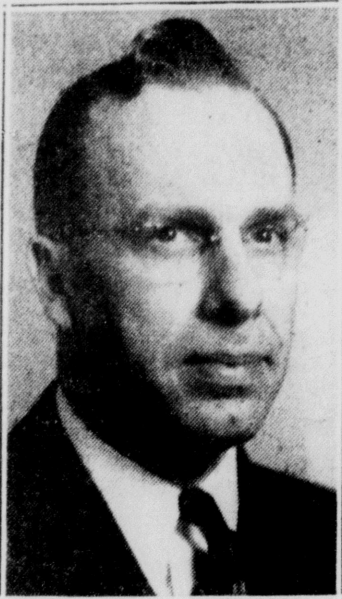

Dr. George W. Lewis, NACA director of aeronautical research, disclosed many new types of engines "should have sufficient thrust to take aircraft well into the supersonic (faster than sound) speed range."

"Those which depend on outside air for combustion," he said, "such as turbo jets and ram jets, must handle vast amounts of air at such high speeds as to change entirely the nature of air flow as we know it. The new tunnel provides the only means we have of determining what the requirements are for the design and operation of these new propulsion plants at the high speeds for which they seem most promising."

The tunnel has a cross section of two and a quarter square feet, through which air is forced at extremely high speed. Elaborate instruments determine an engine's performance with various fuels at different speeds and other operating conditions.

A second supersonic tunnel also is under consideration at the laboratory, the committee announced.

Winona Speaker

Rev. Miller

Services are held nightly at the annual Winona Tent meeting in Stewart's grove at Winona, with Rev. Willis Miller, pastor of the Youngstown Second Primitive church, evangelist. Before his conversion in Johnson City, N.Y., Rev. Miller was a second lieutenant in the field artillery.

The music is in charge of Rev. and Mrs. Charles Washington of Youngstown, gospel radio singers. Herman C. Stratton of Salem is the young people's worker. There will be three services Sunday.

Plan Postwar Projects

HAMILTON, Aug. 2.—Hamilton's city council approved last night plans to submit $2,676,990 in bond issues for postwar improvements to a vote in the November election. Projects include $2,131,700 for anti-pollution work in the Miami river and installation of a sewerage system, $439,390 for parks and other recreation purposes, and $105,000 for a new incinerator.

CROP PROSPECTS

age to vegetables and some field crops in many sections.

The University of Kentucky reported ideal crop weather during July in the state, with a higher quality of burley tobacco growth expected. Tennessee likewise cheered a bright outlook. The wheat yield was expected to be the highest in several years, while there was a 40 per cent increase in Irish potatoes, but Tennessee's corn crop was cut 25 per cent because of weather.

In the south sweet potatoes already were on the market while sugar cane and peanuts were described as good. The only setback was that rain increased boll weevil activity in cotton.

In the Midwest corn was in good condition at the end of July following an unfavorable spring—but needed a hot August and a late frost to attain bumper proportions. The crop has commenced to tassel as far north as Minnesota, according to a weather bureau report.

The bureau said crop conditions throughout the Appalachian to the Rockies area generally were good to excellent, with the exception of local spots of moisture deficiencies.

Lightning Stuns Four Persons At Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, Aug. 2.—At least four persons were stunned by lightning during a heavy electrical storm here last night.

Norman Niswonger, 16, his brother, Roland, 12, and their cousin Gordon, 12, were stunned while working in a park owned by the Niswongers. An unidentified picnicer also was stunned, but was revived.

Relatives said Norman Niswonger was stunned as he was walking toward the house while the other two boys were knocked unconscious at the picnic pavilion. The three boys were examined at a hospital and released.

In the city a dozen homes were struck by lightning, limbs were ripped from trees and streets and homes were flooded.

One highly interesting point in Laski's statement yesterday was that the Labor party abhorred any system of government "in which a small class, living by privilege, tries to exploit, as in Spain it has exploited for centuries, the mass of the community." That seems to turn thumbs down on the Franco government—something which this column previously suggested was likely.

The first item of nationalization, as outlined by Laski, is government acquisition of the ancient Bank of England—the old lady of Threadneedle street. It already had been made known that the bank was to be taken over; but not when. Many people in this country are surprised to learn that this isn't a government institution, but it never has been in its 250 years of existence.

After that will come the nationalization, in the order named, of the coal mines, transport, and the iron and steel industries.

One suspects that it may be a considerable time before all this is achieved, despite the large majority which the Labor party has in commons. The indications are that the moderate section of the Labor party is determined to move carefully so as not to cause an economic upheaval.

Boyle's
COLUMN

BY ERIC GOTTGRETREU
(Substituting For Hal Boyle)

JERUSALEM — That the Jews were thrown out of Germany is a fact; whether the Germans should be thrown out of Palestine is a hot question here today.

The Palestine government has been conferring with the British on the problem of readmitting the Germans to their six settlements in Palestine and giving them back their property holdings, which were considerable.

There are many proposals. Some say the property should be sold for the benefit of Jewish pogram orphans and the victims of Europe's infamous concentration camps. Others propose Palestine Jewry appropriate this property as compensation for all the possessions Hitler's followers, wrenched from Europe's Jews, a number of whom are finding it hard sledding in Palestine today. A Jewish Ex-Soldiers' league put forward the idea that the German property be given to Palestine soldiers returning home.

The German villages contained four or five thousand Germans before the war. Children in the streets spoke the pure Wurttemberg dialect of their grandfathers, who were Christians came to Palestine out of religious motives. One of their villages, high in Galilee, is still named Bethlehem in indifference to the real Bethlehem south of Jerusalem. One Christian Hoffman, a Wurttemberg theologian, investigated Palestine in 1858 and ten years later returned, with followers to open the Holy land to German spiritual expression.

These settlements—and all German property in Palestine—the Germans regarded in the Nazi policy light of "German soil overseas." The sale of German property was forbidden by Hitler, and most of Palestine's Germans became ardent Nazis.

"German Palestine" provided scholars for the Wehrmacht, experts on the Jewish problem and scholars for the Reich learned in the Hebrew language.

GREENFORD

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest V. Eyrich of Greenford were complimented with a surprise party Sunday when 65 relatives and friends gathered to celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary.

The party was arranged by their children, Mrs. Burt Cobourn, Lois Phyllis, Buddy and Martha Eyrich. A basket dinner was held at the K. of P. hall. The center attraction was a large tiered wedding cake.

Florence A. Carlson and Ernest V. Eyrich were married July 26, 1920, at the First Christian church in Warren. Mr. and Mrs. Emory Carlson of Andover and Mr. and Mrs. Archie Phyllis of Kinsman, who attended the wedding, were at the celebration.

The honorees received money and other gifts. Some of the guests were from Salem, Bunker Hill, N. Bloomfield, Orwell, Warren and Cleveland.

Athletics Mastered 6-3 By Niles Republic Steel Co. Nine

Visitors Win With Ease After Four Run Splurge Last Of Fourth Inning

Salem's Athletics were bettered once again yesterday at Centennial park as the Niles Republic Steelers walked off with a 6-3 victory in an evening ball game before a crowd of about 500 diamond fans.

For four innings it looked as though Salem was in the game and well on their way, but four straight singles from the offerings of Joe Hrovatic, who up until then had thrown perfect ball, was the cue, and from then on Niles held sway.

The four singles by Willard Dicks, Arnold Lumoa, Tony Sabo and Steve Sygar tallied two markers, but a pair came across when Nevin Halverstadt's toss got away from Russ Morrison at third and rolled up on the bank.

Hrovatic hurried five innings, allowed five hits and four runs and was replaced by Bus Simpson, who took over and gave up four hits and a pair of runs in the balance.

Pitcher Ed Zeigler turned in a nice show during his seven innings for Niles. He sat the A. C. batters down with six scattered hits and three runs. Joe Dudley took over in the eighth and retired the Athletics without a hit or run in two frames.

The Niles punch was centered in the fourth, but a pair more runs scored in the eighth when Sabo, Sygar and Catcher Jim DePasquale beat out infield hits. The first two scored when Gordy Scullion threw wild to Stanley at the plate trying to force the runner. Both men scored before the ball could be retrieved from near the screen.

Umpire Al Hiner of Greenford took a verbal lashing all the way from Niles players and from Salem fans. Several decisions were hotly contested, especially one in the fifth when Joe Kepler's fly to left was muffed by Sabo and rolled up on the bank. Niles held the ball was foul and Hiner ruled Sabo had touched it first when in bounds. Kepler later scored from second with Salem's first run.

The Salem club meets the Ravenna arsenal team at Centennial park here Sunday at 3 p. m. and plays Hanoverton here on Wednesday of next week.

MEL OTT'S HOMER YESTERDAY PLACES HIM IN '500' CLUB

New York Manager Now In Class With Ruth and Foxx, the Kings

BY JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

Babe Ruth and Jimmy Foxx had to shove over today to make room in the 500-home run club for Manager Mel Ott of the New York Giants.

Ruth still had plenty of elbow room with his lifetime total of 714 round trippers but Foxx, who is finishing his active career with the Phillies, can feel Ott's hot breath on his neck. Double X has 531 counting four this season, and Ott hit the half-millennium mark last night off Boston's portly Johnny Huchings.

Things have been breaking tough for Ott since the Giants ran out of a spring pennant fever and contracted a lingering case of second division blues but the 36-year-old skipper hasn't let it hurt his hitting, batting .336, fifth in the league, with 19 doubles, 11 homers and 53 ribs.

Nobody ever will point to New York's 9-2 romp over Boston as a prime example of baseball as it should be played but the date will live in the record books as Ott's No. 500. That's an average of 25 a year over a 20-year span, a real standard mark.

Boston's centerfielder, Carden Gillenwater pulled some dizzy base running that included the unusual feat of taking third base when it also was occupied by Teammate Butch Nieman.

Far more important to the overall scheme of things was the combination of Pittsburgh's 1-0 shut-out of Chicago and St. Louis' 15-3 slaughter of Cincinnati. Slicing the Braves' National league lead to five games and restoring the champs to second place over idle Brooklyn.

Butcher Blanks Cubs

Max Butcher blanked the Cubs with four hits while Frank Coleman, who replaced the stumping Babe Dahlgren, drove home the big run with a seventh-inning double to beat Claude Pascau.

Johnny Hopp socked a bases-loaded homer as the Cards went wild in an 8-run second inning to crush the Reds with a 19-hit barrage, letting Charley Barrett catch home to his 14th success.

Brooklyn's two-night doubleheader in Philadelphia was washed-out for the second night in a row.

Detroit picked up a full game, boosting its advantage to an even five lengths over New York and Washington, now tied for second.

The Bengals shaded St. Louis, 9-8, on Roy Cullenbine's double with the sacks packed in the ninth.

Washington swept a doubleheader from Philadelphia, 2-1 behind Dutch Leonard and 3-0 on Roger Wolff's five-hit clucking to the New York for second place.

Both Leonard and Wolff hung up their 12th wins.

Boston snapped the Yankees' victory string at five, by rallying for four runs in the seventh and a 7-5 margin. Floyd Bevens, New York starter, homered with two on, his first in the majors.

Chicago regained fifth position by stopping Cleveland, 2-1, on a squeeze play with Floyd Baker bunting and Leroy Schalk scoring from third. Ed Lopat was the victor over Steve Gronck with Pat Seery giving the Tribe their only tally on his ninth homer.

The league-leading All-Stars, champions of the first half of play at Firestone park in Columbiana, continued their winning ways again last night as they defeated the Winings outfit 9-5 in a softball battle on the park diamond.

In the second fray of the evening the Boosters came through with a decisive 9-0 win over the Clippers, winning once more behind the seven hit hurling by their ace pitcher, Freeman Tyson, now returned to duty after a short layoff.

The Batteries

Bud Smith was on the mound for Winings in the first game and Jim Mullenkopf behind the plate. Carl Blosser and Carl Sheets, did the hillwork and backstopping for the All-Star club.

Bus Warrick paced the top-notch Boosters club with three safeties in three times at bat, one of which was a triple.

Tonight's league games set the Boosters against the South Side Tigers and Winings against the Clippers.

A feature of last night's play was a late game between the married women and the High school feminine outfit. Lou Fisher hurled for the younger women and Mrs. Steele was on the mound for the Old Timers. Mrs. Scott did the catching.

The contest, a five inning affair, ended in an 8-8 tie.

Sinclair-Mullins Hope To Try It Again In Playoff Battle At 6:30 p. m. Today

From all indications, Old Man Weather is determined that the second round in Class A softball at Centennial park shall never end. Sinclair and Mullins, however, both seeking the No. 2 round title of the season, are determined otherwise and consequently will try to hold their playoff contest at 6:30 tonight.

Postponements because of rain-soaked grounds were the word Monday and Tuesday, and another postponement of the opening of the third round—was necessitated tonight to make way for the round two playoff.

Games between the Recreation and Eagles and the Salem News and Leetonia were pushed to the bottom of the third round schedule so that the second round issue could be settled.

The battle slated for tonight should be a hot one. The two teams have tangled twice this year with very similar results both times.

Mullins has been downed but twice in 14 games so far this season and both defeats came at the hands of the younger Sinclair outfit. The first round the Oilers did the trick 2-1 and in the second round they turned it 4-3.

Francis Lanney is by far the fastest of the two hurlers. Mutt Schaeffer uses a slower but equally as hard to hit a toss as the Factory hurler.

Lanney has a better all around pitching mark than Schaeffer, but still the Oilers always manage to get their share of the bingles when the two teams clash.

Sinclair will be somewhat handicapped by the absence of Bob Scullion, who filled the second base spot all during their six game winning streak this season. Scullion, though not a heavy hitter, has the valued ability of being able to clout them out when the tension is on and men on the sacks. Scullion returned to service early last week.

He spirited several Oiler rallies during the win streak and was a big part in the youngsters' "barrel of pep" displayed throughout the season.

Other than at second, Buck Ritchie's charges will be at full strength. Mullins, also, figures to be at full force for the contest today and should, by all the odds, be the favorite tonight.

Whether or not Sinclair can make the old saying about "three times being a charm" come true will be known after tonight's game, unless Old Man Weather intervenes with his decisive ways.

Your GI Rights

Questions and Answers On Problems of the Servicemen

WASHINGTON — Here are some general questions from GIs and their relatives:

Q. Recently my son entered college under the GI Bill of Rights. He started taking a pre-law course against my advice. I think he should have started in business administration. Now he finds that his advice was correct and realizes that he is better suited for the business course. He is afraid to change, however, and is afraid the Government won't let him. What can he do?

A. If he finds out the first course he elected isn't satisfactory for his needs he is perfectly free to change. He is entitled to as much time in college as the law allows regardless of what he takes.

Q. I received a very serious injury to my leg in Italy and have since been discharged. As yet I haven't tried to get a job. I'm afraid I might not get into the right thing and have a bad mark against my record if I quit. What do you suggest?

A. The United States Employment Service has a special program for placing disabled persons. Have no fear about going to the closest USES office. They will study your case carefully, find a job that you can handle and keep in touch with you to see that things are going all right.

Q. I am soon going on a furlough and will want to use the family car when I get home. I know servicemen get extra gas for that purpose but would appreciate your telling me how to go about getting it and how much I will get.

A. You will get a gallon a day, up to 30 gallons. Apply at any local rationing board. Bring along the mileage rationing record for the car to be used. Have your furlough papers with you.

Cats' eyes do not shine in the dark; there must be a light for them to reflect.
